Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, line 10, the phrase “in the region of the user’s spine” is indefinite, as a claim may not rely on a person or body part for definition. The location of such should be set forth in structural terms.

In line 13, the term “running” should be changed to “extending”, or the like, for clarity. Likewise, the last paragraph of the claim, “the two legs....”, should be re-worded for clarity and more distinct and structurally accurate claim language.

In claim 2, there is no definite antecedent basis for “the seat panel”, and “the front region”. Lines 7-10 as a whole are awkward and should be rewritten.

Claim 3 as a whole is confusing and unclear, and should be rewritten in clear concise language.

In claim 4, there is no antecedent basis for “the supporting plate”, nor for “the head cushion”. The phrase “in an extractable manner”, is confusing and unclear.

Claim 5 lacks antecedent basis for “the gas injection technique”.

Claims 1-5 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Holmes et al, Su, Koepke et al, Wu, and Ueda et al show various features of the invention.
